

October 2011

“Major organisations can no longer run the risk of employing contractors who are not able to prove that they have sound health and safety policies.

More companies need to understand the importance of adopting good risk management in the way that IVP has done.

The firm’s high standard has set an example, which hopefully will be followed by other companies within the sector.”

John Kinge, Head of Risk at SAFEcontractor

Our Vision In short;

Provide our customers with the best possible security solution

Maintaining a truly competitive edge

Supply professional & ethical advice

Seek innovative security solutions

Provide excellent customer care

To Uphold these core values

Award of Top Safety Accreditation

Integrated Visual Protection Limited is one of the latest of successful companies to join a leading edge scheme, designed to help industry improve its safety record.

The London-based firm recently received accreditation from SAFEcontractor, a programme which recognises very high standards of health and safety practice amongst UK contractors.

IVP is principally involved in the provision of all security services. The business is divided into three divisions: Static Guarding Division, Electronic Security Division and Vehicle Tracking Division, however there are three core areas of business activities these are; Static Guarding, Monitoring Services and Installation and Maintenance work.

The Company has its own Alarm Receiving Centre, based in London, which is accredited to NSI ARC Gold Scheme – Category II.

The company’s application for SAFEcontractor accreditation was driven by the need for a uniform standard across the business.

Piers Brown, Operations Director of IVP, said, “IVP are incredibly proud to be recognised and accredited by SAFEcontractor”, he continued, “This accreditation provides the assurance to any prospective client that we take seriously our installation and maintenance responsibilities and that all works will be undertaken in a safe and professional manner. In addition, it also reinforces to our existing customers our continued professionalism and constant aspiration to provide them with the best possible service.”

Mark Eyles-Thomas, Managing Director IVP said, “As a privately owned Company we are an independent supplier of products and services and as such are not tied to any one supplier, product, manufacturer or distributor. We see this independence as a major advantage over our competitors, as it allows us to seek the right product or service for each and every security objective. Fortunately for us our competitors have not been blessed with this competitive edge. With the addition of such recognised accreditations, such as the SAFEcontractor scheme, our BS EN ISO 9001 accreditation and our NSI Gold Central Station I firmly believe that we (IVP) are achieving our Purpose Statement of;

By 2012, IVP will be recognised as the UK’s number one privately owned security provider.”

Should you have a security issue and/or would like to know more about Integrated Visual Protection Limited visit our website www.ivp.org.uk

‘The Industry’s best kept secret’

The Safecontractor System

Under the Safecontractor system, businesses undergo a vetting process, which examines health and safety procedures and their track record for safe practice. Those companies meeting the high standard are included on a database, which is accessible to registered users only via a website, www.safecontractor.com